------------	-------------------

Dear Mr. Swords

I refer to previous correspondence and in particular your e-mail of the 4th December.

With regard to your statement that the Attorney Generals Office has until the 19th to reply to you, I understand that you have received our reply to your first e-mail already.

I must repeat with respect that the Attorney General does not provide legal advice to members of the public, and Directive 2003/4/EC does not require him to do so.

Yours sincerely

Christopher Doyle
ADVISORY COUNSEL
