

Manufacturer Logo as part of a Road illumination device

- The possibility to grant an approval for signalling lamps including a manufacturer logo was created with entering into force of the 01 series of amendment to UN Regulation No. 148 and supplement 1 to the 08 series of amendments to UN Regulation No. 48.
- This possibility is the result of a long and hard discussion at GRE.
- The intention is to allow a manufacturer logo to be part of a signalling lamp in a very restrictive way.
- UN Regulation No. 149 does not contain any restrictive requirement concerning road illuminating devices including illuminated manufacturer logo.

Manufacturer Logo as part of a Road illumination device

- In the opinion of Germany a manufacturer Logo could only be approved as part of a signaling Lamp as specified in UN Regulation No. 148, but not as part of a road illuminating device approved according to UN Regulation No. 149. However, the refusal of an approval cannot be justified only because of the design if all requirements are fulfilled.
- Can GRE agree?
